As this experience unfolds each year, many wonderful memories are made. The kids share their many talents with God as they follow His word from I Corinthians 10:31 "Whatever you do...do it all for the glory of God." This is truly evident by the way they play and conduct themselves throughout the weekend. In an effort to incorporate this philosophy into all aspects of the weekend's activities, we ask that all parents, friends, family members, school personnel, coaches and student athletes be true models of Christian sportsmanship on and off the court. You can do this by:

- Cheering positively for your team and not against the other team.
- Not yelling at referees or opposing team members/coaches.
- Applauding good play, regardless of who made it.
- Being respectful of fans around you.
- Letting the love of Jesus shine in your words and actions
- Acting as if HE was sitting right next to you in the stands

In addition, a member of the LSAW staff will approach the individual or group that is causing the disturbance. This communication may result in the party being asked to leave the game or possibly the entire tournament weekend, depending upon the severity of the actions. Together, we can make this an unforgettable experience for our teams that will honor God. It will take all participants and every fan to do this but with His help, it can be a truly special weekend. Thanks for your help and let's do it all for Him.
